Carlos Trogolo Eliçabe specializes in corporate law and financial transactions (including capital markets and derivatives transactions, and bank financings). He represents Argentine and foreign clients in mergers and acquisitions transactions, and he regularly advises clients on general corporate governance matters. He is also part of the firm's multi-disciplinary team specialized on advising entrepreneurs.

He is a partner within the Corporate Law practice of Mitrani Caballero Ojam & Ruiz Moreno. Previously, he was a foreign associate with Lewis Baach Pllc in Washington DC (2013-2014) and an associate at the Banking and Finance Department of Estudio Beccar Varela (2004-2007).

Mr. Trogolo Eliçabe was admitted in Buenos Aires in 2002.

Following the election of Carlos Trogolo Eliçabe, Mitrani Caballero Ojam & Ruiz Moreno has now 25 partners and over 50 professionals.

The firm's CORPORATE LAW practice provides expert advice on corporate governance, director's duties and liabilities, audit regulations, group reorganizations, intra-group transactions, risk detection and risk allocation, adoption of corporate documents and policies (including bylaws, charters, codes of ethics, corporate governance guidelines, disclosure, insider trading, document retention and other policies), establishment of business entities and other investment vehicles, and matters relating to regulatory and stock markets compliance.

Mitrani Caballero Ojam & Ruiz Moreno regularly assists clients with their international regulatory planning and compliance programs, which often includes working directly with market regulators to address specific regulatory issues. The firm has also extensive experience in banking and corporate finance, complex commercial contracts, mergers and acquisitions, litigation, mediation & arbitration and real estate projects.

FIRM OVERVIEW

Mitrani Caballero Ojam & Ruiz Moreno is a full service business law firm that combines the expertise and business knowledge of its senior members with the talent of younger professionals with degrees from the most reputable institutions in Argentina, the United States and Europe, and significant experience in leading international firms and companies.

The firm, which regularly advises some of Argentina's major multinational groups and a growing number of domestic companies, individual private clients and foreign investors, takes pride in its ability to provide value-added services tailored to its clients' specific needs and its record of building solid client relationships through a business-oriented approach and an efficient use of resources.

Widely recognized for its corporate and corporate finance, labor and social security, regulatory and intellectual property practices, the firm is currently expanding its presence in other areas. In addition, the firm is unique among Argentine firms in its ability to provide cross-border legal services, and several of its members have played a leading role in a broad variety of transactions or projects with little or no contact with Argentina.
